DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102/103

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. Claims 15-17, 21-29, and 33-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over United States Patent n. 4,421,671, Cusano et al.

Cusano et al disclose a composition comprised oxides wherein the composition can be comprised of 2 to 15 mol% thoria, zirconia, hafnia or some combination thereof, (column 4, lines 14-18).

The composition can be used with computerized tomography scanners (considered part of a CPU), (column 1, lines 18-21).

4. Claims 30-32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by or, in the alternative, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as obvious over United States Patent no. 4,737,011, Iri et al.

Art Unit: 1794

Iri et al disclose a sleeve used with an optical fiber support portion wherein the support portion can be thorium zirconate, (Columns 5-6, lines 56-16).

Although the amount of oxides is not specifically specified, as the support portion 43f is comprised of the ceramic, it would be expected that the amount of oxide used is greater than 3 mass%.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

5. Claims 18-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over United States Patent n. 4,421,671, Cusano et al.

Cusano et al disclose a composition wherein the composition can be comprised of 2 to 15 mol% thoria, zirconia, hafnia or some combination thereof, (column 4, lines 14-18). The composition can be used with computerized tomography scanners (considered part of a CPU), (column 1, lines 18-21). It is not specifically disclosed that the composition should be painted on an aluminum or copper plate.

Art Unit: 1794

The invention seems to be in the composition of the coating. It is taught in Cusano et al that the composition can be used in microscopes, lamp envelopes, laser application, and furnace windows, (column 4, lines 8-13). As Cusano et al disclose that there are multiple uses for the aforementioned composition it would be expected that it could be useful for many things including coating a metal plate. Absent an objective showing to the contrary, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art the time of invention to use the claimed composition in many applications including the coating of a metal plate.
